Lillian S. Pritchett Receives National Honor For Poet's Recognition

Invited to N. Y. Unveiling

Mrs. Lillian S. Pritchett of 179 Merrill Ave. has been honored by an invitation to the unveiling of a bust of the Southern poet, Sidney Lanier, in the New York University Hall of Fame on October 3, and to join in the unveiling procession which will form in the University library.

Mrs. Pritchett is publicity director for the California Division, United Daughters of the Confederacy. She is a native of North Carolina and has lived in Laguna Beach and Sierra Madre since coming West.

The invitation to the unveiling was prompted by the publicity director's having won first prize in a Daughters of the Confederacy contest for promoting the publicity toward securing Lanier's recognition by the Hall of Fame election.

Making a hobby of directing programs for women's clubs since her retirement, Mrs. Pritchett directed Sidney Lanier memorial programs all over the state during the past year.

California's quota of the $5,000 raised by the Daughters of the Confederacy was secured in less than three months due largely to her efforts.

The Georgia poet was one of five famous Americans honored this year by the N.Y.U. Hall of Fame, which was opened in 1900 with the avowed purpose of establishing a permanent Hall of Fame which by the year 2000 would contain the busts of 200 famous Americans.

Mrs. Pritchett has a keen interest in the works of Sidney Lanier, with whom her father became acquainted while serving in the Army of the Confederacy. Her father reported that Sidney Lanier's flute notes were the sweetest music he had ever heard. Though Lanier was both poet and musician he was elected to the Hall of Fame as a poet.

The invitation from the Hall of Fame reads:

"On behalf of the Chancellor, Council and Senate of New York University, the Director of the Hall of Fame invites you to be present at the ceremony of the unveiling of the Bust and Tablet for Sidney Lanier. You are also invited to join in the procession."

In addition to her interest in literature, Mrs. Pritchett is a collector of rare china and pottery. Among the books is a 30 volume encyclopedia belonging to William Jennings Bryan, filled with his personal notes pencilled in the margins.

Local Druggist On the Air With Amateur Station

Assembling the station took nearly nine months, Perloff reported. Like all other amateur radio stations this one was off the air during the war. When amateur licenses were again issued, starting last November, the druggist commenced rebuilding his 350 watt transmitter-receiver. (Continued on page four)

Prior to the Luxemburg patrol engagement for which he was decorated, MacNeill was awarded the Purple Heart for wounds received in the Battle of the Bulge near Bastogne, Belgium. In his first combat engagement on Christmas Eve, 1944, he was credited with taking nine German prisoners.

Though he received word of the Croix de Guerre award several months ago, its receipt was delayed pending return to the country of the Luxemburg government-in-exile. The medal and citation signed by Princess Charlotte of Luxemburg was forwarded from Washington by the War Department.

Dr. Gillett Addressed City Lions Club

"We live in a world in which universal co-operation is not only desirable, but necessary to prevent chaos," Dr. Clarence S. Gillett of Los Angeles told members and guests of the Sierra Madre Lions club in an address Tuesday evening.

Emphasizing that America's present role in world affairs gives her a grave responsibility, the speaker said that this country is in danger of becoming the world's most hated as well as most envied nation.

Tracing the effect of modern transportation on international relations Dr. Gillett, executive secretary of the Congregational Church's Committee on Christian Democracy, said that in today's world it is desperately important what other nations think of us.

Winning of World War II would not have been possible, he said without the co-operation of non-white races. He added that the establishment of a stable peace and the resumption of world trade depends on the good will and co-operation which America inspires in other nations.

First Vice-President Ben Goss, who presided at the meeting in accordance with the club's custom of a different officer presiding at the last meeting of each month.

Roy W. Macy was introduced as a new member of the club. Guests were Clark C. Gorman of Denver, Colorado, and Thomas Mulvaney of Arcadia.

Courts of City Park Will be Used Twice Weekly

A fall recreational program for Sierra Madre young people during the school year will include tennis and volleyball tournaments, and a new program in arts and handicraft.

Sponsored by the City Recreation Commission, the program reserves use of all city park game courts and facilities for use Tuesday afternoons from four to six o'clock and Thursday evenings from seven to nine.

Toy Loan Now Open to All Children

Small citizens of Sierra Madre, especially if they are new comers, will be happy to know that a "Toy Loan" is maintained here. The toy library opened September first with shelves of new toys and games.

All children are invited to enroll and take advantage of borrowing toys and learning how to care for them. The child has a library card and number (just like a real library). He is taught good care, if the toy is returned in good condition he receives a satisfactory mark. After 20 satisfactory markings a reward is earned.

On the other hand donations are acceptable from local families wishing to dispose of unused toys. They will be sent in to Toy Loan Headquarters in L. A. for refinishing and repairs if needed. The work shop is a very interesting place, many handicapped people are employed daily to rejuvenate the toys. Dolls especially are sent in to be dressed and new faces painted.

Every child in Sierra Madre is invited to make good use of Toy Loan for the year. The toy loan is Mrs. Pearl Proffitt. The sanitized toys are waiting for playmates across from the P. E. Station. The library is made possible through the local Civic club.

BABY TALK

BY MAXINE BALLING
ALL THE STORES in Monrovia and Arcadia are announcing their FALL OPENING this week-end, and the Balling Baby Shop, not to be outdone, is plunging and splurging by increasing this column 25%, which means at least two inches more for you to read, and we've already used one inch to say that!

NEW FALL COATS came in just in time for the Fall Opening, and there's a style and a color for every hard-to-please daughter from size 3 up to 14. One is a blue and red plaid made by Coat Craft. It's a nationally known line, and you may have seen their ads in Parents Magazine and others. If she likes her colors brighter we have solid reds and Kelly greens in a beautiful tweedy wool.

ONE OF THE SMARTEST coats we've received is a brown and white check, with a belt, and gathered in the back. Another check is a Chesterfield model with velvet collar. Just so the Chesterfield cigarette people won't think this is a plug, we might say that all the coats are Lucky Strikes... and they are, for they are beautiful, and reasonably priced, and we were lucky to get them in time for the Fall Opening. Prices are from $13.95 to $19.95.

JUST RECEIVED some boys' sweaters, too. They're the kind that button up snugly around the neck... but he'll probably tie the whole sweater around his waist or around his neck "like the big guys do." These are sizes 2 to 8, blue, red, white or green, $4.95.

IF YOUR BABY wasn't born with a silver spoon in his mouth, you can get him one now, for they're being made again and we have quite a complete line... bent spoons, plated or Sterling silver, gold lined cups, and fork and spoon sets.

We now have quite a selection of custom-made dresses, and you should see them during the Fall Opening. Say! Why should we call it a "Fall Opening?" The Balling Baby Shop has been open every day since last March, and if you haven't been in yet, you're about the only one in twenty miles, and for your information the Balling Baby shop is located at 401 1/2 South Myrtle, in Monrovia.

Ex-Soldier Boy Star Learns To Walk Again

Ex-soldier, former child motion picture star, Dickie Moore, now 20, has learned to walk again. When Dickie entered the Veterans Administration West Los Angeles Medical and Surgical Hospital in July, both legs were paralyzed, and it was impossible for him to walk. The case was diagnosed as infectious neuritis, an uncommon virus disease of the nervous system, and doctors estimated that it would be at least six months before he could quit his wheelchair even to move about on crutches.

Today, Dickie, as the result of two months' treatment at the V. A. hospital, is walking without help of any kind. He will be discharged from the hospital in about a week.

Dickie, who now is a strapping adult, is best remembered for his starring roles in "Oliver Twist," "Sergeant York," and "Heaven Can Wait." He completed the picture, "Sweet and Lowdown," in which he played the part of a cadet general, the day before his entrance into the army as a private. "It was the greatest demonstration in military history," he says.

Discharged from the army as a sergeant in March, Dickie had completed 21 months as a forward area "Stars and Stripes" correspondent on Saipan.

In July, when the mysterious paralyzing virus struck, Dickie's doctors recommended the West Los Angeles Veterans Administration Hospital for treatment. In six short weeks he took his first steps.

V. A. doctors attribute the miraculous recovery to a combination of modern physical therapy treatments and Dickie's own, fine constitution.

Daily physical therapy included water and air massage in the hospital's Hubbard tank, sun-lamp treatment, rowing machine exercises and walking practice.

"At first, at the end of each day, I used to come up in my

After his discharge from the V. A. hospital in a few days, Dickie's plans are indefinite. Possibilities of a career in journalism, motion pictures, or a college education are open to him. Whatever he chooses, he's thankful that he will be able to do it on his own two feet.

By TOMMY NEWSOM

"Hey, Roland!" Rocky stands on the porch rail, one arm around the corner post, one barefoot dangling over the side, eating the last of his breakfast toast. He is four and without plans for the day, his neighborhood playmates having started school that morning. Roland is the neighbor, who, with his wife (they have no children), lives across the hill. His bright blue eyes don't speak his age, though his white hair says he isn't under twenty. He is busy with his shovel, leveling a plot of his hill. He isn't rushing the job; the day is already hot, and besides, he has no doubt long since decided that rushing is a futile waste of energy. But his slowly measured strokes are not without determination.

Between a stroke and without looking up he emits a not too encouraging acknowledgment to the pet monkey across the way who has interrupted his day's work at the bare start. "WELL!" "SK'DADLE!" Roland sends over a fathomless look from under his white brows. "Smorgasborg," he finally replies, crustily. Rocky tallies with his original greeting. "Why don't you learn something with some sense. Say bon jour. French for good morning. Bon jour." "Bon jour," repeats the student. "Comment allez vous? Means how do you do." "Comment—hanh?" "Don't say 'hanh,' say 'pardon' (pronouncing it French-fashion)." "Hanh?" "Hanh, hanh, hanh," this mimicked in disgust. "Well, then, try, oui means yes. Oui, oui." "Roland!" his wife calls out the window. "For goodness sake, don't start the child on that!" "Why you haven't got a shirt on for? My daddy works harder'n you do. I've got a baby grown!" It's a boy brother cuz girls don't know how to build trains. Hey, Roland, what's dat smoke in de valley?" "That's the city dump. And don't say 'hey'."

"Do day dump de city dare?" "No, they burn city trash. And ston swinging from that post. I ain't agonna have broken bones littering my property." "S'my property. B'longs to me-self." "Don't say 'me-self.' Say 'myself.' Comme ça." "Comme ça, Onct I went to de mifet auto races." "So?" "Way way way in Pasuhde-muh. De black one had a wreck an' de ambulance came an' put him in de back. But he wuzn't killed. De red one went de fastest. You never even saw a mifet auto race." "No, I never even saw a 'mifet' auto race." "You never even could take your teeth out liken my Grampa kin do, neither."

"That you can keep thinking," muttered Roland to the dirt. A loud he merely retorted "Hmph." "I got a magic tree. My girl-friend gave it to me. You des let it grow an' it turns into jeeps an' trains and houses an' everything in de worl'. If you'd like

The Frog TALKS about ROBERTS MARKET and Things

The codfish lays a million eggs. While the helpful hen lays one. While the codfish never cackles 10 to the deed she's done; And so the codfish coy we scorn While the helpful hen we prize, Which indicates to thoughtful minds: It pays to advertise.

—Anon.

NO CODFISH I, BUT A THOUGHTFUL Green Frog who might also lay eggs; though when I "lay an egg", it is usually right here in this colyum. (Yes, he who puns should be punished.) Anyway, who wants codfish eggs or frog eggs? And what's the use of advertising if you can't give people something they want? Which is what the hen has and which I have here in this big, little store. And I don't mean just eggs!

WHAT I AM TRYING TO SAY IS THIS: Here in this somewhat unimpressive food mart you will find all things some of the time and some things all of the time, and I am not afraid to advertise the fact because they are the kind of things you want!

IN THE GROCERY DEPARTMENT THERE are so many things to talk about it is hard to know what would be most interesting to you. Truly, the only noticeable shortages now are in products using fats or oils. These include soap, mayonnaise, shortening and margarine. Though they contain oil, French, Russian and Italian Dressings are to be found here in unpeeped different varieties, including the old, and sometimes hard-to-get favorite, Farmer Smith's French Dressing, both plain and with garlic.

AS TO DAIRY PRODUCTS, WHICH ARE here today but may be gone tomorrow, depending on the whim of Uncle Opy, we can recommend decently-aged Wisconsin Swiss and Cheddar Cheese, as well as a number of specialty items, the most noteworthy of which is Borden's WEI-CUT Cream Cheese, plain, pimento or relish style. There is plenty of milk, almost enough cream, and an ample supply of Arden's No. 1 Quality Butter, the latter being more reasonably priced here than in most stores.

WHILE I AM MEANDERING THROUGH the Grocery Department, the meat situation being what it is, I think it timely to mention: Dubuque Pork Sausage Meat, Lighthouse Fish Balls (Swedish), Golden Strand Grated Tuna, Smoked Sardines, Nu-Trishus Meat Balls with Gravy, Newmark Corned Beef Hash, and Oscar Mayer Wieners and Lunch Meat. All this and much more!

AS TO THE MEAT BUSINESS, THE LESS said the better, unless, that is, you want to say it to your Congressman. Betty is still on the job with her delicious Potato and Macaroni Salads, but the Lunch Meat section of her Delicatessen Case at times looks like Old Mother Hubbard's cupboard. We still try not to cry. Maybe tomorrow, or next week, or next month we will again have plenty of meat for all of you.

NOW AS TO MY CORNER, AND NEED I SAY that's the Fruit & Vegetable Department? There are no shortages here except in Bananas which are probably scarce for the same reason that meat is scarce. But Oh, Boy! Just look at the temptingly crisp vegetables: Green Wax and Lima Beans; Summer, Italian and Yellow Squash; Artichokes, Cauliflower, Broccoli, Lettuce, Romaine, Watercress, Tomatoes, Cucumbers, and so forth! And feast your eyes on the luscious, ripe fruits and melons, including Bartlett Pears, Rio Oso Peaches, Plums, Persian Melons, Cantaloupes, Fias, Seedless, Tokay and Muscat Grapes; and GOOD Jonathan, Delicious, Pippin and Bellflower Apples. Yes, there is a complete assortment here just awaiting your selection; and my sloan is and always has been: THE BEST AT ITS BEST!

If you have read all this, you are probably as tired as I am, so

Bethrothal Told by Parents Saturday At Patio Birthday Dinner Party

YVONNE VIRGINIA SCHWEPPE

A birthday dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Schweppe, Jr. for their daughter, Yvonne Virginia, Saturday evening in the patio of their home, 21 W. Grand View, was also an announcement of her engagement to Robert Osti.

The large birthday cake with its candles told the betrothal news. Across the cake was written "Engagement of Yvonne and Robert".

Miss Schweppe, a journalism major at Pasadena Junior College, will graduate next June. Her previous scholastic training was Wilson high and Wisconsin schools.

Robert Osti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Osti, of 271 N. Grove is well known here. He is a graduate of Wilson high and Mair-Tech. He served two and one-half years in the U. S. Coast Guard, 20 months in the South Pacific and Aleutians. Since his return he has been engaged in horticultural work.

Wedding Date Told at Tea Given at the Ralph F. Ware Home in Beverly Hills

Sunday afternoon, September 29th in the Beverly Hills home of Mrs. Ralph Franklin Ware, an announcement tea will be given. Mrs. Sylvia Kennedy Hawkins with Mrs. Ware will announce the wedding date of their niece, Mrs. Marjorie James to Harold I. Stitt, Jr.

Both Mrs. James and Mr. Stitt are very well known in Sierra Madre. Mrs. James, residing at 108 North Baldwin with her son and daughter, served during the war at Cal-Tech in the research department.

Mr. Stitt returned a year ago from a four year service in the U. S. Army. He was 27 months on New Guinea and is a Purple Heart. He is the son of the Harold Stitts of North Sunny-side.

The wedding will take place November 7th at the Congregational church in the Campbell Chapel with Rev. Carl Smith officiating.

The guests for the Beverly Hills tea will include the college friends of the bride-elect from The Girls Collegiate School and University of Southern California, which Mrs. James attended.

Saturday Night Musicales Draws Appreciative Group

An audience of more than 200 local music lovers heard Miss Audrey Langbehn, coloratura soprano, presented in recital by Mrs. Grace McCarty at the Sierra Madre Woman's Club, Saturday evening.

Miss Langbehn, showing a nice stage presence, early won the hearts of her audience with the group of five songs entitled "A Cycle of Life" by Ronald. She displayed a great fullness of voice for a coloratura, especially delighting her hearers with Mozart's "Vengeance Aria" from The Magic Flute, and Verdi's "Caro Nome" from Rigoletto.

Encore numbers given by Miss Langbehn included "Summertime" and a repetition of "Look, Ed-winn" from "A Very Little Sphinx".

Miss Langbehn was gowned in white crepe with twin gold sequins and wore gold slippers and gold ear rings.

Supporting artist Chandler Paris was enthusiastically received with his baritone rendition of Tchaikovsky's "Pilgrim Song", several numbers from Handel's "Largo", and Hageman's "Miranda". His encore numbers included two Irish ballads, "Little Irish Girl" and "Kitty, My Love".

Gus Rihard gave a pleasing accompaniment giving in addition a group of piano selections, including Beethoven's "Bagatelle" and two Maxurkas by Chopin.

William Rhoades was head usher at the musical event, assisted by Miss Marilyn Scoville and Mrs. Leona Smith.

Famous Singer Selects Fall Accessories

Wine Accent for Gray Tweeds

Gladys Swarthout, noted star of opera, screen and radio selects a few accessories for her autumn wardrobe. The smart handbag and matching belt in a rich wine shade harmonize perfectly with Miss Swarthout's gray tweeds. Both accessories are made of "Vynilite" plastic, that wonderful new material that retains its original beauty almost indefinitely. Its lovely sheen is not affected by water, nor will the surface crack or peel. The careful selection of smart accessories gives just the right touch to any costume accentuating the individuality of the wearer.

Health Guarded Inspection of Eating Places

Routinely, restaurants are checked by Los Angeles county health department sanitarians as to the dishwashing methods which they employ. Results of good or bad dishwashing and handling will show up in a test known as the "rim count". This consists of swabbing the rim of dishes, especially glasses and cups, thus determining the bacteria count, which is made in the laboratory.

Nothing is more annoying for a person trying to eat if bothered by flies or a fat cockroach walking across the counter. If it were not for inspection, this aggravating condition would be more prevalent. Instead of a rarity in this modern day and age, these insects can carry typhoid, dysentery and possible infantile paralysis.

Inspection also protects the public against fraud such as the use of substitutes. The refrigerator comes in the picture in this inspection when the sanitarians look for real in chicken salads, unlawful preservatives in meat and ice-milk for real ice cream. During the meat shortages during the war, many a horse fillet was unearthed in otherwise respectable surroundings.

All reports of insanitation of food establishments made to the Monrovia health center are followed up by the sanitarians.

a five piece orchestra, three violins, piano and cello. They play beautifully. We have wonderful food, they know how to cook too. I don't know whether the cooks are Polish or German.

The building we are living in is called the Haus der Jugend. It is one of the houses that was used as a school for "Hitler's Youth". There is a theatre on the ground floor. We have a lounge with chairs placed around a coffee table. Our rooms are very nice. There are private rooms and suites. We are allowed to fix them up with rugs, bed spreads, floor lamps and easy chairs. (Life here is very smooth).

The army is very particular about our appearance. The correct uniform must be worn at all times. They say the WACs in Frankfurt are the neatest looking WACs in Europe. After all this is headquarters.

They say Gen. Eisenhower is supposed to come to Frankfurt next month. I hope I may have a chance to see him.

Germany is really a beautiful place. Everything is so green. It is a little chilly even when the sun is out. Most of the people seem happy enough and well fed. Of course I haven't been in to town yet.

It seems very strange to see an apartment house with people living in it, then right next to them a big gaping hole, with just the frame work left, or to see a hotel building, with nothing left but a wall and the stairs winding up a couple of floors. Stairs seem to be the strongest part of a building. They are left when everything around them is blown up. I saw one house that was destroyed completely except for the frame work of one wall and a small balcony on the second floor with a potted plant still sitting on the railing. They have many plants in the windows here.

There are a lot of Army wives here. It is strange to see a captain drive by with an American wife and baby in the jeep with him. Most of the officers and many of the G. I's have jeeps.

Oct. 5 Last Date to Enlist With G. I. Bill of Rights

With all Army recruiting stations in Southern California crowded with men volunteering to beat the October 5th midnight deadline, these stations will remain open until 12 P. M. on both the 4th and 5th of the month.

The deadline is the final hour upon which volunteers may obtain the guarantee of full educational benefits under the G. I. Bill of Rights, according to Major Russell W. Miller, 129 N. Mar-engo Avenue, Pasadena, Army Recruiting Service.

However, men enlisting after the critical date will receive educational benefits according to the length of time they serve before the emergency is declared ended. The date does not affect the rights of men who now are or have previously served in the Armed Forces.

Parents are urged to investigate this opportunity at the nearest Army Recruiting Station.

Next Tuesday 5 Cent Rate For Air Mail

A new 5-cent air-mail rate for the United States and Canada will go into effect October 1, according to Postmaster Thomas R. Durning.

At the start of the program, 12 major cities will be serviced by an around-the-clock East-West aerial postoffice operated by American Airlines. Named "The Midnight Expeditor", the flying postoffice will take off from Los Angeles for the East at 12:01 a. m. October 1, just 60 seconds after the new air mail rate goes into effect.

Mall will be sorted and cancelled enroute, and the plane will deliver it to Tucson, Ariz., El Paso, Ft. Worth and Dallas, Tex., Little Rock, Ark., Memphis and Nashville, Tenn., Washington, D. C., New York and Boston.

which rotates it. Used to operate aircraft bomb bay doors during the war, the motor was purchased from Army surplus property.

Since going back on the air in August, Perlot has conversed with amateurs in Chicago, Detroit, New York, St. Petersburg, Fla., and at points in Pennsylvania, Connecticut, North Carolina, Georgia and Louisiana.

As fall approaches, bringing cooler weather, amateur reception improves, and the druggist expects to increase his range. But even now with the summer heat and the ignition noises of passing cars and trucks, the set has a minimum of the radio operator's "QRM" trouble.

Top O' the World Studio Has Classes for Gifted Children

Parents of children displaying an unusual talent for self-expression through art will be interested to learn that special Saturday morning art classes for gifted children of 8 years or older are now being formed by Caroline Speare Rohland at her home "Top o' the World Studio", 660 Alta Vista Drive.

Mrs. Rohland is particularly known for her work in pastels. A number of her paintings were recently shown with the San Gabriel Valley Artists Exhibit in the Pasadena Museum.

Through work done with children in experimental art classes it has been established that expression through art relieves emotional problems among children and gives them self-confidence that serves them in their whole development. Mrs. Rohland is especially interested in this phase of art instruction. She appreciates the keen imagination of children, their amazing sense of design that has already been envied by older artists, and believes that a slow and patient encouragement of this innate sense, outside of academic training, is the surest way of developing it to its fullest possibilities.

Children applying for enrollment are asked to bring some of their sketches or paintings. The classes will be held on Saturday morning from nine until twelve.

CALIFORNIA SETS THE PACE

"You haven't lived until you've lived in California!" That, in effect, is what California is telling the world today. For California is developing a mode of living within the American way of life that is distinctly different—and better, of course—than that of any of the other 47 states, or the rest of the world.

In other words, California is setting the pace in modern living. Our California sunshine has much to do with it. The year 'round mild temperatures enjoyed by the greater part of the State encourage outdoor living. Homes here are being designed more and more to fit in with this outdoor eating, sleeping, playing and working. And styles of clothes in keeping with that spirit—clothes distinctly Californian in comfort and colorfulness—have been created by California fashion designers.

California movies set the pace in the entertainment world. California farms head the parade in the agricultural realm both in value of crops and in advanced farming methods and farm labor standards.

We Californians are accused at times of being too enthusiastic—yes, boastful—about the Golden State. But that enthusiasm has helped to make California what it is today. And boasting isn't an unpardonable sin if you have something to boast about. And we have.

That's why we say, "You haven't lived until you've lived in California!"

VANISHING AMERICAN

In spite of the record high level of employment it seems that the man who works is becoming the vanishing American. Industry simply can't find enough men to do all the work that is waiting to be done.

Newsweek Magazine reports that General Motors wants to build a gray-iron foundry in either one of two Northern Ohio towns. When finished it will provide 2,000 jobs. The big job however, is to find 2000 persons to fill those jobs. So GM is telling the towns that the one which can provide the manpower will get the foundry.

The company hopes that there are still enough "un-vanished" Americans in either community to fill the bill.

AROUND AND ABOUT

By EDWARD LLOYD VOORHEES

SCOTLAND—"Auld Reekie," a truly Royal city.

When I arrived at the Lake district from the south that late Saturday night, I had been as tired as a post office pen. But three days in that region of cool mists and off-water breezes had completely revived the vigor which usually favored me. I even succumbed to temptation and bought some souvenirs for the folks back home. Then early on Wednesday morning I was off for Edinburgh by bus, lake boat, and train. From Windermere we rolled due north through rugged country, over Kirkstone Pass, whose bare and jagged rocks recall some of the more lonely sections of our own Rockies. Then, gliding down past the miniature lake with the gentle name of Brother Water we were shortly afterward at the little lake port and mining town of Patterdale at the southern end of the lake of Ullswater, one of the largest and most eastern of the lakes. Here, walking after lunch in the outskirts of the little town, I engaged in conversation with a worker who was about to descend into the lead mine and who invited me to go down with him. Since my lake boat was a leave within the hour I had to decline his invitation, but I did walk to the mine entrance with him—just to hear his speech, for he would call my attention to surrounding landmarks in a rich, clicking brogue with such expressions as "See you fell . . . yon crag . . . yon tarn?" Then giving him some American pipe tobacco which I happened to have with me and thanking him for his courtesy we parted as friends. I noted down at the time that he told me the men who earned work in the lead mine came from 55 to 66 a week, which I thought rather good for that time and country—if the work was steady, and I understood that it was "fairish" steady.

The boat ride from Ullswater village to Pooley Bridge—the whole length of the lake of Ullswater, some 12 or 15 miles, confirmed in my mind that this strip of water does indeed, as generally asserted, provide the most varied scenery of the English Lakes—an irregular shoreline, a changing vista of mountain, meadow, crag, fell and forest—near and far—with changing lights and shadows and shafts of sunlight governed by great piles of clouds, with local rainfalls followed by the rainbow. Pictorially it was like one of those richly lush and romantic scenes which Turner delighted to spread on his canvas, and Wordsworth has epitomized, in one of his best-known poems, the idea and the hope which such imagery can evoke in the soul of a born lover of nature:

"My heart leaps up when I behold
A rainbow in the sky:
So was it when my life began;

So is it now I am a man;
So be it when I shall grow old,
Or let me die!
The Child is father of the Man;
And I could wish my days to be Bound each to each by natural piety."

And he is here using the word "piety", of course, in its broadest sense—in the ancient and sturdy Roman sense conveyed by the Latin word "pietas", meaning love of home and kindred, the domestic affections, the sense of gratitude, affection, and acceptance of duty to the household gods—the Lares and Penates of the Roman hearth and table. By the time Wordsworth wrote those lines (1802) he was ready to settle down and live them—which he did.

Another ten miles, by charabanc, to Penrith, up the very long hill by foot to the railway station, then by train to Carlisle and across bleak hills with an occasional stone sheep-fold—like the one which the father in Wordsworth's "Michael" never completed—then a pine forest rising up suddenly on the landscape, reminding me oddly of the fatal day when Macbeth saw Great Birnam Wood moving toward him on high Dunsinane Hill—and at last we crossed the moors and there it was—Edinburgh! I bid goodbye to the pleasant and communicative youth, my seat companion, who was returning home from King William's college on the Isle of Man, who offered me his hand at parting and wished me "pleasant time for the rest of the way around." It was now late evening, partly clear and cool, promising a braw, bright, moonlight night—th' night—or something which sounds that way upon the Scot's tongue! My ears were soon being puzzled by this clicking speech in the small hotel which had been recommended to me by another Scot on the train. Although my room was not furnished with either the maximum or minimum of comfort, the meals proved to be ample and well-cooked, and the cordial, genuine, warm hospitality of the Scotch proprietress won my final loyalty to the house as "home" to a stranger in Edinburgh.

Unlike modern Los Angeles with its eye-smarting "smog" of up-to-date gases and fog, or Pittsburgh, the Smoky City, with wealthy pall of clinging soot Edinburgh, aptly known as "Auld Reekie" (Old Smoky), has a universal blanket of what seems to be made up of a mixture of immemorial Scotch mist, hoarfrost, and the domestic smoke of some thousands of family chimney pots—thus making it sanctified and respectable, as well as historic, for it covers everything in sight and goes right down the Royal Mile from Edinburgh Castle to Holyrood Palace, with no discrimination whatever between the wicked and the ungodly, including the house of John Knox and the former haunts of gay courtiers and their gayer ladies!

OPA Probes Method of Obtaining New Automobiles

OPA special investigators moved swiftly today to solve the mystery of just how Los Angeles used car dealers have come into possession of perhaps hundreds of new 1946 automobiles while the individual buyer is required to wait perhaps months before his order can be filled.

Presence of the big supply of new cars in the Southland was disclosed by the investigation which preceded this week's crack-down on alleged used car black marketeers, according to chief of the group of OPA's special investigators with headquarters in Los Angeles.

In support of this contention, Taylor cited the fact that in the past he had received many "tips" from manufacturers who suspected certain shipments of cars were destined for the illegitimate market.

SET YOUR SIGHTS

It takes planning to achieve a goal

Some young men know what they want and plan for it. Others are still looking for their niche. The new Regular Army can help both.

Perhaps you want to go to college but can't afford it. If you enlist in the Army, you'll get your chance. Honorably discharged after a three-year enlistment, you are eligible for 48 months of education at any college, trade, or business school for which you can qualify. The Government will pay your tuition, laboratory fees, etc., up to $500 per ordinary school year, plus $65 a month living allowance—$90 a month if you have dependents.

If you haven't found your spot, an Army enlistment offers you training in any of 200 trades and skills. You leave the service eligible for further training at the best civilian schools.

You can assure yourself of the benefits of the GI Bill of Rights if you enter the Army on or before October 5, 1946. See your nearest Army Recruiting Station for details.

HIGHLIGHTS OF REGULAR ARMY ENLISTMENT

- Enlistments for 1½, 2 or 3 years. (3-year enlistments permitted for men now in the Army with 6 or more months of service.)
- Enlistment age from 18 to 34 years inclusive (17 with parents' consent) except for men now in Army, who may enlist at any age, and former service men depending on length of service.
- A reenlistment bonus of $50 for each year of active service since such bonus was last paid, or since last entry into service, provided reenlistment is within 3 months after last honorable discharge.
- A furlough for men who reenlist within 30 days. Full details of other furlough privileges can be obtained from Recruiting Officers.
- Mustering-out pay (based upon length of service) to all men who are discharged to enlist or reenlist.
- Option to retire at half pay for the rest of your life after 20 years' service—increasing to three-quarters pay after 30 years' service. All previous active federal military service counts toward retirement.
- Choice of branch of service and overseas theater (of those still open) on 3-year enlistments.

FIRE FLAMES

Because this humble typist has been invited to accompany the firemen to Las Vegas, this little note will be run thru quite a few days before press time. The good news came to me just a short time ago. I could hardly wait until I got home to break the news to mamma. In a way, that was a mistake. When I told her that I would be leaving with the firemen on Saturday for a few days' trip, there was an expression across her countenance that to me resembled a scowl. Not that she objects to firemen's Conventions. Her first thoughts are of my health, wealth and pursuit of happiness. "It seems to me that you would remember what a time you had from the last time you attended a firemen's Convention. How long it took you to recover from a bad dose of indigestion and how you swore that you would never do it again," she said. And there were many other things she said that we will leave unsaid in this column. I must admit that she is perfectly right, but what can a fellow do? It takes willpower to a large degree to overcome temptation of a wonderful time offered by a trip with these congenial men. There will be many occasions to laugh. There will be much eating of improper foods at the improper time. There will be lots of sleep lost and there will be times when we wish we were home in our own beds and there will be things happen that won't do any of us much good as far as health is concerned. We know these things and still the temptation to go on this trip is more than we can resist. So we will be leaving soon. By the time this is printed, we will be back from Las Vegas and some of the firemen will be at the convention in Long Beach. And then for days and weeks after, there will be gatherings where we will hear what each and everyone did to make the trip a joyous one.

There will be enough firemen left to take care of the fire situation at home and those who are at home will be much more alert because of this responsibility. Not only do they know a few of the firemen will be out of the city, but they know from now until we get plenty of rain, there is a great danger around. They know that the fields and hills are like powder with the dry weeds and brush. They will keep constant watch for any hazardous condition and try to remove it if at all possible. The men who will not be away at the convention will think of those who are at the convention, but they will bear their responsibility in earnest.

Folks who intend to do burning must be extra cautious NOW. There is little trouble in getting in touch with the fire department to learn if in the opinion of the firemen, the burning spot and the time is safe. We would appreciate this co-operation at all times. The help of the amiable residents of the city has been a wonderful instrument in keeping our fire losses low. Words of this column or words spoken cannot tell the real service and appreciation of the men of the fire department for this great help. There is bound to be some of us at some time who will take a chance and risk burning either in a wild or at a time when it is otherwise unsafe. It is this foolishness that gets us in Dutch. It's a good idea to be reminded once in awhile, because we are most all inclined to get a little careless. And so if our good friends will be on the look out for fire danger and prevent one from getting started we will feel that our absence was not of such importance after all. SHOW US UP by keeping the FIRES OUT.

POTLUCK PREVIEW
With the coming of the fall season we begin to look to the many parties and dinners which are on our social calendars.

Whether it be a "get-together" for the younger set or one of those wonderful pot-luck affairs put on by the church or lodge, there always arises the age old problem of what to fix that will retain all of its goodness and flavor even though it may have to wait awhile before it is served. If you are taking these dishes to a place where it is not possible to reheat them before serving, most of the heat can be retained in the casserole dishes by wrapping them in newspaper. Three to four layers of paper is usually sufficient.

SOUP CREAM BAKED BEANS

2 cups navy beans
1 small onion
1½ to 2 tsp. salt
½ cup molasses
1 tsp. dry mustard
1 cup thick sour cream
½ lb. salt pork
Soak the beans overnight in water. Drain. Add the sliced onions and 1 quart of water. Cover and cook slowly about 1 hour adding more water if necessary. Stir in the salt, molasses, mustard and sour cream and pour into a deep casserole. Press in pieces of salt pork leaving only the rind exposed. Pour in enough boiling water to cover the beans. Cover and bake at 300 degrees F. for about 3 hours adding a little water as it evaporates. Uncover and bake for 1 hour longer. Serves six.

BAKED RICE CREOLE

1 cup white rice
½ cup bacon fat or butter
2 tbsp. chopped green peppers
½ cup finely chopped onions
½ clove finely chopped garlic (optional)
2½ cups (No. 2 can) tomatoes
3 cups chicken stock or 3 chicken bouillon cubes dissolved in 3 cups of boiling water
Small piece of bay leaf
1½ tsp. salt
1½ tsp. ground cloves
½ tsp. celery seed
1 tbsp. sugar
Wash rice, dry thoroughly. Heat fat in heavy skillet, add rice, green pepper, onion and garlic. Cook stirring constantly for about 10 minutes or until rice is lightly browned. Add remaining ingredients; simmer for 25 minutes and remove from top of range and turn into greased casserole. Top with ½ cup buttered crumbs and ½ cup grated cheese. Bake at 375 degrees F. for 25 minutes or until brown.

POLICE BLOTTER

Broken glass in street... A prowler call reveals a bird in the attic... The police are on the alert to help find the killer of their brother Officer who was found dead a few days ago... Lost school books... (That could be intentional)... Noisy motorcycles on Mariposa Street... An elderly man lost is taken to his home by Officer Rutledge... A fire report proves unfounded... A "drunken brawl" reported brings man and wife to court. A heavy fine is imposed. Officers Chunn and Rutledge hear "obscene language" while working on this case... Rifle shooting in Bailey Canyon brings Chunn and Rutledge to the scene and when the fifteen had an idea that it was permitted, our two young officers changed their minds for them... A party disturbing the peace and quiet. Stilled by Officer Chunn on the scene and when the fifteen had an idea that it was permitted, our two young officers changed their minds for them... A prowler call. Chunn on the run... A kitten killed by a dog... A garden hose stolen. A series of this particular petty theft arises every so often. Keep an eye on your hose. (Even Nylons)... A small "Autotette" stands too long in one place. Central Garage picks it up for repairs... A lost dog is found... A brush fire reported west of town. It is soon extinguished by Los Angeles County fire fighters in whose territory the fire had crawled... An auto wheel and tire is found... Another garden hose theft. This time from Mrs. Lillian Clark who lives at 261 N. Adams. Having just purchased a much needed hose, Mrs. Clark was content to know she was no longer going to get all wet while watering her garden in the very few minutes she has before going to work at 6:30 A. M. in the morning. She was bitterly and sadly surprised last Monday when, as she was about to do the regular routine, the brand new hose was gone. To take this hard working lady's labor saving hose that she had labored hours to pay for is dastardly... The joint reported to return this hose to its owner would certainly be a kindly act and should be a great relief to someone... An irate citizen came into the office to report a large truck taking up too much parking space along the main drag. Loading and unloading in our close quarters is just another of those serious problems with which the citizens as well as the police will have to deal. Very large trucks coming into town to deliver to stores are a menace. Sooner or later something will happen that will bring serious thought toward back door deliveries only... The police feel that so many people who come to them to object to the manner in which some other citizen conducts him or herself behind a steering wheel is really a worse driver than those of whom he complains... It has been and is being noticed that the average auto driver thinks little of the courtesy that could be shown his neighbor when it comes to getting thru an intersection.

Fourteen industries unknown in the United States in 1870 now employ 25 percent of all workers.

Source of Shellfish Should be Checked Before Purchasing

Housewives as well as the merchants are urged to look for a State Certification number when purchasing shellfish in order that they may ascertain that the shellfish are from approved sources.

This is a warning given by the food and drugs division of the Los Angeles county health department, following the receipt of new regulations from Thomas Farran, surgeon general of the U. S. Public health service.

In the past, outbreaks of typhoid fever ascribed to contaminated shellfish have occurred. This certification stamp placed on packages containing canned, fresh or frozen shellfish, assures the purchaser that this food has not come from beds contaminated with sewage water. Beginning with September, the first month of the oyster season, the U. S. Public health service publishes certifications, and supplemental lists are issued fortnightly.

The quarantine on fresh mussels for human consumption still holds, however. State regulatory measures prohibit the use of this fresh shellfish except for bait until October 31.

THE TOP MOVIE FAVORITES for 1946 are now being determined by a year-round poll of the nation's movie-goers conducted by Dr. George Gallup's Audience Research, Inc. for Photoplay magazine. A late summer round-up finds the ten stars pictured here as leading in the race for honors as America's most popular actor and actress. The stars are not in order of their preference, since the final results of the poll won't be announced till January of 1947. The winning male and female star will each receive the famous Photoplay Gold Medal Award. Last year Bing Crosby and Greer Garson were named by movie-goers as the year's favorites, and both are mentioned in early returns of the poll this year.

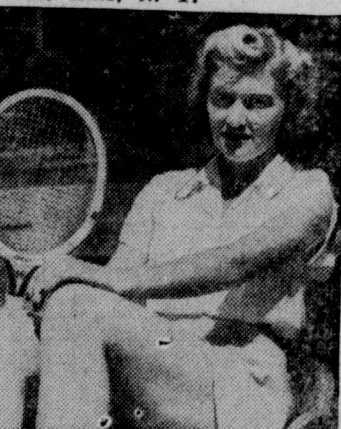

Winston Churchill was once a professional soldier in the British army and fought with the Bengal Lancers in India.

Tremendous Speeds in Air

Seven-mile-a-minute speeds for passenger flights, bringing Los Angeles within five hours and fifteen minutes of New York, feature the Pan American World Airways program—revealed today as it was submitted to the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington—for transcontinental and other long non-stop routes within the United States. These routes will connect the 13 cities which the company is now authorized to serve on its overseas routes. New types of Clippers flying far above the weather will carry passengers faster than man has ever traveled before except in the cockpit of a high-speed pursuit plane.

From the domestic time table it appears that Los Angeles to Chicago is 4:00 hours; Los Angeles to Detroit, 4:30; to Boston, 6 hours; to New York, 5:15.

CAMERA TOPICS

by T. T. Holden*

A little practice will help you improve your pictures with "frozen action," as John W. Steger did in this shot with his Graflex camera.

STOP THAT SUBJECT

How fast a shutter speed it takes to stop motion is a subject that seems to confuse even experienced photographers. Since summer always presents many opportunities for action-stopping pictures, it might be well to summarize a few rules of thumb which can be applied to any motion problem you are likely to encounter.

Speed of subject, distance from the camera and the path of motion in relation to the camera are the three variables which we must always consider. At twenty-five feet you can "stop" a man running across your field of view with 1/500 sec. At fifty feet you will need only half as great a shutter speed, but at twelve feet it will take 1/1000 sec. to freeze his motion on film.

If the same gentleman ran diagonally at the camera at the same speed, you could "stop" him twenty-five feet away with 1/250 shutter speed or a 1/230 sec. shutter speed. If his direction of motion was directly toward or away from the camera, 1/250 or 1/165 sec. would do the job.

The same system of changing exposure time according to the subject's distance and direction of motion applies to all speed problems. Here are some typical shutter speeds required to stop types of action twenty-five feet from the camera and moving across your field of view. Lively dancers or divers 1/700 sec.; cars in traffic 1/200 sec.; race horses 1/1000 sec.; playing children 1/250 sec.

Actually, there are many times when your picture is improved by a slight blur in some part of the subject to retain the feeling of speed. Just how far to carry this blurring is a matter for experimentation.

If you have a shutter capable of speeds up to 1/500 or 1/1000 second, you need have no hesitation trying to photograph any motion that can be seen by the human eye providing you don't get too close with your camera and that you utilize an angle which will minimize the apparent motion of the subject. So don't be afraid to experiment. But keep a record of your exposures so that you will profit from experience. And keep those variables of speed, distance and direction in mind whenever you estimate the shutter speed required for a certain shot.

Nancy Holmes SUGGESTS

MAYBE they're not so easy on the eye — the breakfasts that Pop and young son concoct themselves — but it's he-man stuff and it hits the spot. There may be a few more dirty pots and pans than usual, the kitchen may look as though a cyclone just passed through, but it lets Mom sleep late. Everybody's happy. What else matters?

Just in case there are a few father-son combinations that need a helping hand to guide their first culinary efforts, Nancy Holmes of the Best Foods kitchens suggests:

Dad's Bacon and Eggs
12 slices bacon Salt and pepper
6 eggs Paprika
Place bacon flat in skillet or on grill and brown slowly on one side. Turn. Place strips close together in pairs. Break an egg on each pair. Season with salt, pepper and paprika. When egg begins to set, turn bacon with egg, if desired, or baste with hot fat and cook to desired hardness. Yield: 6 servings.

Lumber Camp Flap Jacks
1 cup enriched flour 1 tablespoon sugar or molasses
2 cups cornmeal 2 eggs
1 teaspoon salt 2 cups sour milk
2 teaspoons baking powder 6 tablespoons melted vitaminized margarine
1 teaspoon soda
Sift, measure flour and resift with rest of dry ingredients. Break in eggs. Add sour milk and stir until dry ingredients are moistened. Stir in melted vitaminized margarine. Bake on ungreased griddle in large cakes. Yield: fifteen 4 1/2 inch cakes.

PAUL ALSO HAD A LAMB . . . "Sambo" is the black sheep of the Whelton family at East Braintree, Mass. Every morning he accompanies Paul Whelton Jr., 13, to school, then returns home by himself. Risky with present shortage of meat, it looks like Paul is holding a bribe in his hand to lure "Sambo" on.

"Community Futures" a new monthly published by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce was announced recently by the chairman of the Chamber's trade committee, Carl T. Colt. Mr.
Colt, a Sierra Madrean, residing at 595 Elm St., said the publication was designed to help Southern California business men follow development trends.
Listing all developments affecting future trends of residential, business and merchandising areas and locations, the report covers items such as mass housing projects, subdivisions, large new industries, stores, hotels, office buildings and theatres.
"The report has been published experimentally for the past four months and has met with such an enthusiastic reception among local business leaders that it has been decided to make it a permanent feature," Colt said.

Signs Of The Times

More young people in evidence as school opens, giving a fresher and more vital air to the community. Progress in any community depends to a great degree on the enthusiasm and curiosity of youth.

New stores opening and others cleaning up and remodeling to attract some of the retail purchasing power that goes to other cities.

Continued warm weather makes one wonder if this area shouldn't have a few post-season straw hat days.
